

competences and conduct in the area of scientific literacy  • A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of reading literacy  • A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of mathematical literacy  • A school evaluates results and supports the development communication skills in foreign languages  • A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of information literacy  11 Systematic Evaluation of Individual and Group Results of Children, Pupils and Students  • A school monitors the success of children and pupil during their transition from a lower to higher level of education (first years at the respective level)  • A school monitors and evaluates the level of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)  • A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a teachers board, a school counselling centre, a founder, parents, students, a school competences and conduct in the area of reading literacy  • A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of mathematical literacy  • A school evaluates results and supports the development communication skills in foreign languages  • A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of information literacy  11 Systematic Evaluation of Individual and Group Results of Children, Pupils and Students  • A school monitors the success of children and pupil during their transition from a lower to higher level of education (first years at the respective level)  • A school monitors and evaluates the level of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)  • A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a <ul> <li>A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of mathematical literacy</li> <li>A school evaluates results and supports the development communication skills in foreign languages</li> <li>A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of information literacy</li> <li>Systematic         Evaluation of         Individual and         Group Results of         Children, Pupils         and Students</li> <li>A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a</li> </ul> competences and conduct in the area of mathematical literacy  A school evaluates results and supports the development communication skills in foreign languages  A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of information literacy  A school monitors the success of children and pupil during their transition from a lower to higher level of education (first years at the respective level)  A school monitors and evaluates the level of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)  A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a foreign languages  A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of information literacy  Systematic Evaluation of Individual and Group Results of Children, Pupils and Students  Foreign languages  A school evaluates results and supports the development of knowledge, competences and conduct in the area of information literacy  A school monitors the success of children and pupil during their transition from a lower to higher level of education (first years at the respective level)  A school monitors and evaluates the level of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)  A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a competences and conduct in the area of information literacy  11 Systematic Evaluation of Individual and Group Results of Children, Pupils and Students  Competences and conduct in the area of information literacy  A school monitors the success of children and pupil during their transition from a lower to higher level of education (first years at the respective level)  A school monitors and evaluates the level of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)  A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a <ul> <li>A school monitors the success of children and pupil during their transition from a lower to higher level of education (first years at the respective level)</li> <li>A school monitors the success of children and pupil during their transition from a lower to higher level of education (first years at the respective level)</li> <li>A school monitors and evaluates the level of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)</li> <li>A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a</li> </ul> <ul> <li>Evaluation of Individual and Group Results of Children, Pupils and Students</li> <li>Individual and Group Results of Children and Students</li> <li>Iower to higher level of education (first years at the respective level)</li> <li>A school monitors and evaluates the level of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)</li> <li>A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a</li> </ul> Individual and Group Results of Children, Pupils and Students  A school monitors and evaluates the level of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)  A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a	'aluation of Group Results of Children, Pupils and Students  The school monitors and evaluates are rever of outputs and results of education, as they are specified in the FEP (e.g. commissional examinations, school tests, national and international examinations)  • A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a Children, Pupils and Students  and Students  Children, Pupils and Students  Children, Pupils and Students  A school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. a Tr school uses possibilities for comparing results from many resources (e.g. u	nildren, Pupils teachers board a school counselling centre, a founder, parents, students, a school	d Students board)
A school assures early support for children, pupils and students at risk of education failure 12 System • A school determines the overall success of children, pupils and students in realized Section 2 (1) Evaluation of SEPs during a certain period (three-year period) and compliance of the success with Letter g), Section 10 and 10 a
Overall Results in the FEP 10 and Section
• A school achieves required outputs in chosen subjects of the curriculum (the Czech and English language, mathematics) during a certain period (three-year period)  Act	lucation and English language, mathematics) during a cortain period (three year period) according to SEPs and in accordance with findings of the school's own evaluation of results A school monitors the overall and group success of children, pupils and students at the end of education level during a certain period (three-year period)
A school monitors effectiveness and success of systems implemented in the area of	